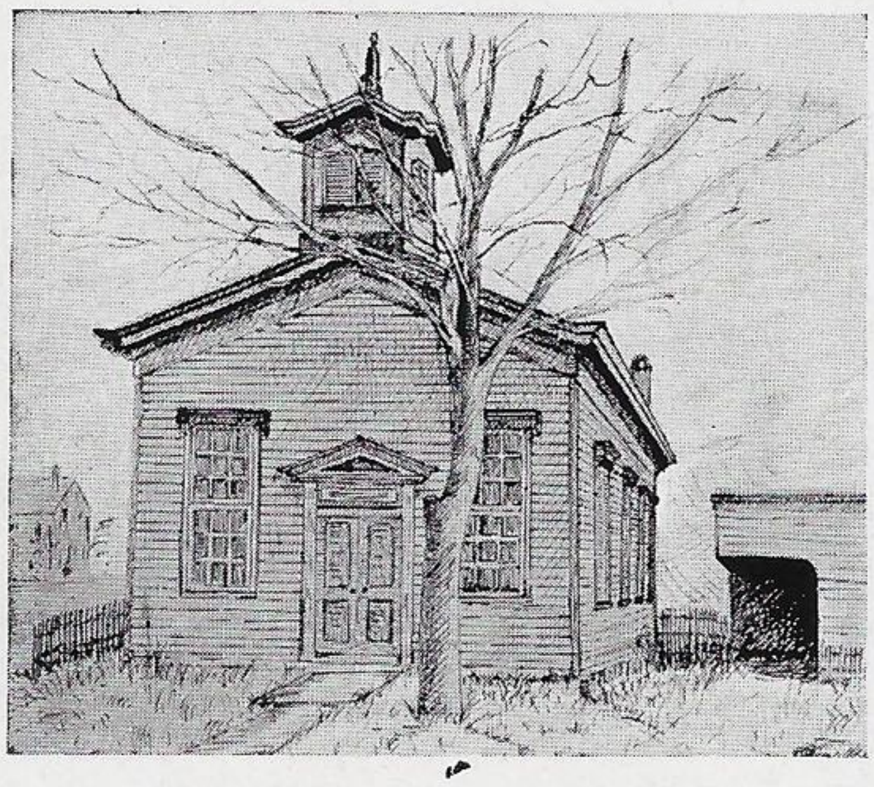
HISTORICAL SKETCH OF THE GREAT KILLS MORAVIAN CHURCH

THE HISTORY of a church in many a community dates back a number of years before the work actually assumed a denominational character. That is true of the Moravian Church at Great Kills, Staten Island, N. Y. It appears that preaching services were held in a schoolhouse in the village, then called Giffords, as early as 1844, by pastors from the Dutch Reformed Church at Richmond and the Moravian Church at New Dorp. In the year 1855 the Rev. J. R. G. Peck, of the Dutch Reformed Church, organized a Sunday School. Mr. Cornelius Cole, a deacon in the Dutch Reformed Church, became the superintendent, continuing in that capacity for 25 years, when his son, George W., succeeded him, serving for 33 years.

Through the efforts of Deacon Cornelius Cole, money was gathered for the erection of a chapel, which was built in 1872, at the corner of Amboy Road and Brown Avenue, at a cost of about $1900, which was met by subscriptions from the Giffords people. The deed to the building was held by the Dutch Reformed Church, although the work was looked upon as altogether undenominational, with a Union Sunday School, and preaching by Dutch Reformed and Moravian ministers. During that same year the Dutch Reformed congregation at Richmond abandoned the church there and transferred its meeting place to the chapel at Giffords. Four years later, in 1876, the congregation disbanded. Meanwhile Deacon Cole purchased the bell in the old Richmond Church and presented it to the Giffords Chapel. When the new church was built on Hillside Avenue, the bell was transferred to that building and the same bell is today calling people to worship.



From August 1876 until early summer of 1878, the late Charles L. Moench, a Moravian student at the Union Theological Seminary in New York, preached in the chapel every Sunday afternoon. Mr. Henry V. Rominger, another Moravian student, also preached occasionally. For about four years there was no regular preaching in the chapel. Then in 1882 a Mr. Charles A. Yost, a clothing merchant in New York, was instrumental in securing the services of Mr. T. M. Webb, a Baptist layman, a member of the Brooklyn Y.M.C.A., to preach regularly. He organized a "Union Christian Church" to which a number of the disbanded Reformed Church transferred their membership. Mr. Webb was ordained to the Christian ministry and remained in charge of the work until 1885, when he severed his connection with the undertaking, leaving in charge a Mr. Melville, another Baptist layman, who ministered to the Gospel needs of the community for a time.

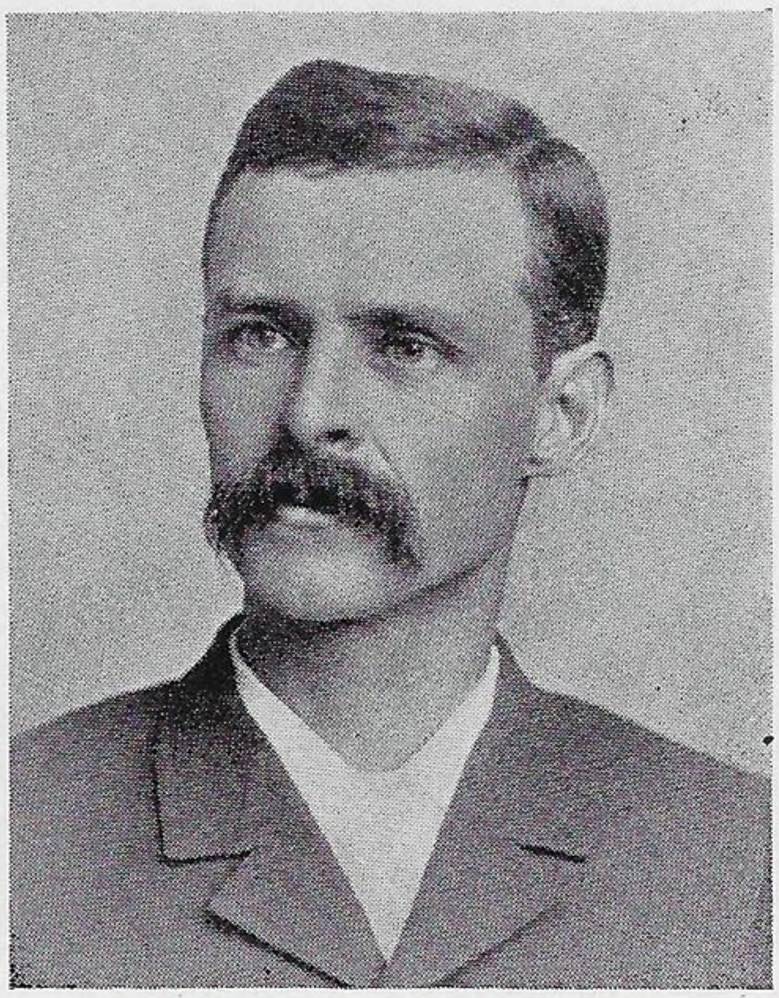
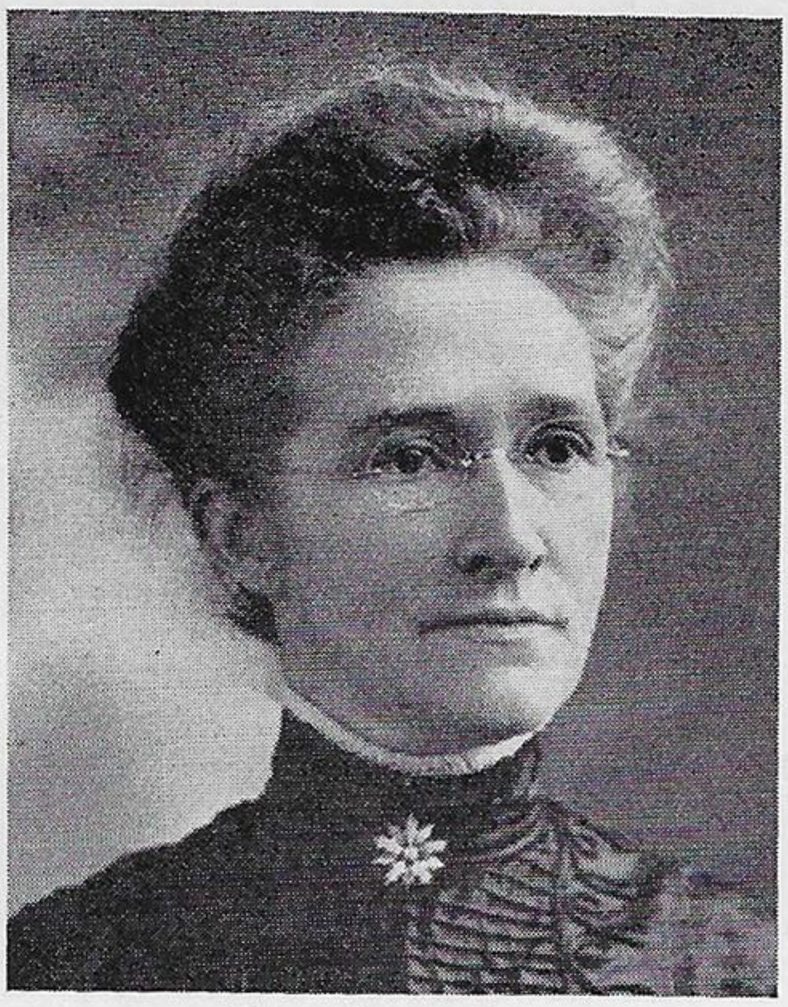
It soon became evident that the Union idea was not working out very successfully, so a petition, signed by most of the members of the congregation, was sent to the Moravian Church at New Dorp, asking that the work in Giffords be wholly taken in charge by that church. Such a petition met with favor, and the New Dorp Pastor, the Rev. Wm. H. Vogler, made arrangements for services in the chapel on Sunday afternoons. Negotiations were now entered into by the New Dorp Church to purchase the Giffords chapel. The custodians of the Reformed Church property were agreeable to such a sale, and after securing the consent of as many of the original subscribers as possible to such a transfer, the chapel was actually purchased on February 3, 1886, for the sum of $900, thus becoming Moravian property. On March 14th of the same year the chapel was re-dedicated by Bishop Edmund de Schweinitz of Bethlehem, Pa., to the usage of the Moravian Church, so that from that time Giffords became a distinctively Moravian work, although a part of the New Dorp congregation. Sunday School and services were now regularly held on every Sunday afternoon.

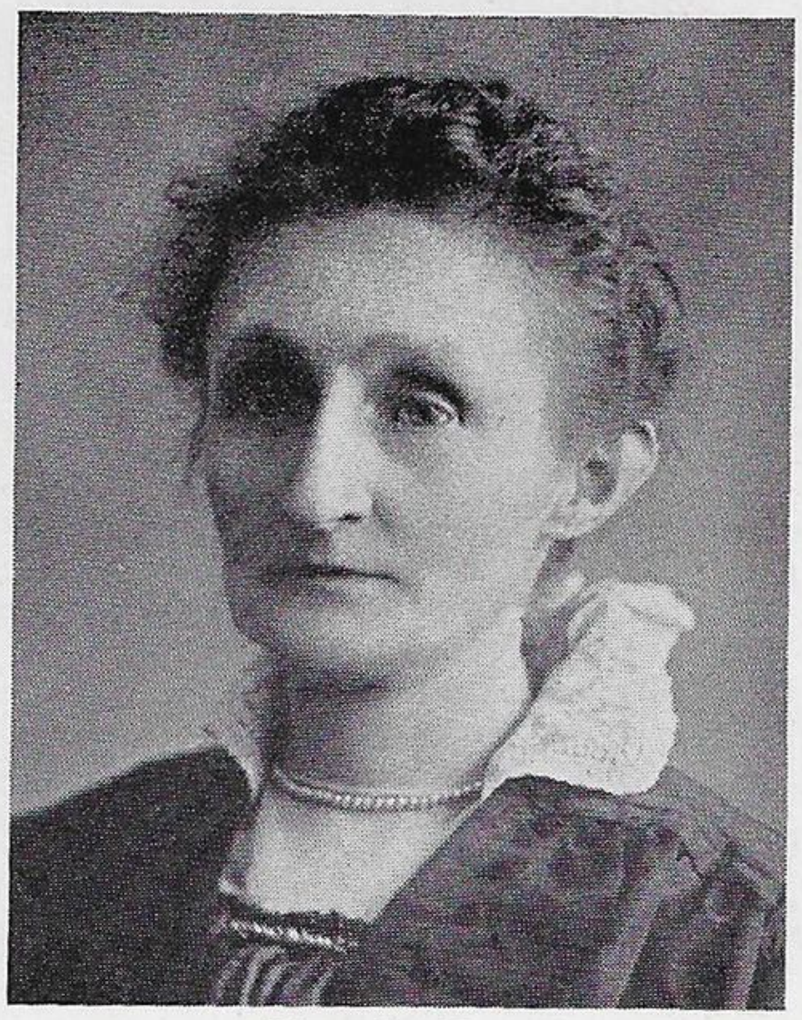


Rev. William H. Vogler
Feb. 1886 - Oct. 1892

A number of the people who were still members of the Dutch Reformed Church, although the congregation at Richmond had been disbanded ten years before, and who had not united with the Union Church, now united with the congregation here, among them being the Cole families. The pastor endeavored to get a complete list of what we generally term "charter members." He experienced considerable difficulty, as at that time all the names were entered in the record book at New Dorp together with those from Castleton Corners, where a chapel had been in existence for some years. The following list may not be complete. It comprises those who had joined at New Dorp previous to 1886, and thus automatically became members here, those who joined soon after the re-dedication of the chapel, and we added those also who joined in 1887, one year later: Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Stratton, Maggie Coyne, Charles Farrow, Virginia Grayson, Charles Whiteworth, Mrs. G. K. Gill, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Cole, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Cole, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Cole, Mr. and Mrs. George Ketchum, Annie



Mrs. Annie Cole



Mrs. G. K. Gill

Burbank. Received in 1887: James Gilby, Maria Louise Ebbets, Mrs. Martha Colon, Martha Ackerman and the following young people, the first to be confirmed in the Moravian chapel: Ella Gilby, Katie Cole, Ella Cole, Addie Perine, and Lydia Perine.

Two persons today enjoy the distinction of having been faithful members during the fifty years, and we honor them by printing their picture in this booklet, and they will be our guests of honor during the celebration: Mrs. Annie Cole, still very active in the Ladies' Aid Society, and Mrs. G. K. Gill, residing at Southbury, Conn. One other person deserves "special mention," having been an active member for 49 years, Mrs. W. T. Gibson, who was Katie Cole then. And while this is not history, we want to mention the fact that for Mrs. Gill this is a double jubilee occasion as she and her husband are observing the golden jubilee anniversary of their wedding day on March 11th.

Nov. 1892 - Aug. 1896

The people at Giffords were very happy to have a regularly organized church in their community, with regular services and pastoral supervision, and the work began to prosper. The Sunday School grew and there was a healthy increase in church membership through confirmation and by reception otherwise.

Meanwhile a change of pastors occured at New Dorp. Rev. Wm. H. Vogler, after a pastorate of sixteen years, having been in charge of the Giffords church for six years, was called to another field of labor, leaving in October of 1892. The Rev. Wm. H. Rice became the new pastor in November of the same year, and under his leadership the work at Giffords made rapid progress. In January of 1893 the first Christian Endeavor Society was organized with a membership of twenty.

It soon became evident that the Giffords work would be greatly benefited if larger quarters were available both for Sunday School and worship. The fact that the chapel was located on Amboy Road, a main highway of the island, where much traffic passed on Sundays to and from the beaches, resulting in much disturbance and annoyance on account of the "hideous noises of these Sabbath-breaking parties, making it almost impossible to decently conduct the solemn Communion service," made a change of location very desirable. After due consultation with the mother church at New Dorp, and because of the intense interest manifested in the Giffords community itself, the decision was reached in 1895 to build a new church on some lots which had been purchased by the New Dorp Trustees on Hillside Avenue, the present site. Verily no better location could have been found in the community. It is indeed "beautiful for situation" in the language of the Psalmist. On October 5th the corner stone laying took place, the service being in charge of Rev. Wm. H. Rice.

Good progress was made on the building itself so that it was ready for dedication by June of 1896. On Sunday, June 7th, the congregation gathered for the farewell service at the chapel. The following Sunday, June 14th, although a rainy day, was nevertheless a happy day for the people of the Giffords community as they gathered in their new church for the dedication service. Many from New Dorp and Castleton Corners were also present. The Rev. E. T. Kluge, President of the Provincial Elders Conference, was present for the occasion. The church, as shown here, had been erected at a cost of $5000, of which the New Dorp Board of Trustees appropriated $2000, the rest of the money to be raised by the members at Giffords and friends, together with the proceeds from the sale of the chapel. There was great rejoicing among the people and a new interest in our church was at once awakened in the community. There was no difficulty experienced in raising the required sum of money, "for the people had a mind to work."

And now another step in advance was taken which proved the beginning of a new era for the Giffords Church. For some time it was felt that the work at Giffords required more attention than could be given to it by the pastor of New Dorp, and that it was very desirable that this church should have its own pastor, who could give all his time to the task of developing this promising field. Such a request was presented to the authorities at Bethlehem, who, after consulting with the Boards at New Dorp, granted such a request. The Rev. John S. Romig, then pastor at Easton, Pa., accepted the call to this field of labor and arrived here in August 1896, to take full charge of the work, and thus became the first resident pastor. The next year lots adjacent to the new church were purchased and the parsonage was erected, so that the pastor could occupy it in September of 1897.

Aug. 1896 - Nov. 1913

With services held regularly on Sunday mornings and evenings, and a resident pastor to look after the needs of the community, the work took on an even more promising aspect. Already in October of 1896, the ladies gathered at the home of Mrs. George W. Cole to consider the organization of a Ladies' Aid Society. Rules and regulations were adopted and on the following Wednesday the officers were elected. Thus October 14, 1896, marks the beginning of an organization which has had a large place in the financial matters of this church. If space allowed it, it would be interesting to publish the amount of money they have raised during these years.

In these years, and for some years to follow, the Moravian Church was the only church in the community. The life of the community at that time centered in the church and its organizations, and so the Moravian Church at Giffords was soon enjoying considerable prestige in the community. A Junior Christian Endeavor Society was organized on January 28, 1899.

Another red letter day for the congregation was Easter Sunday, 1903, when a $1000 Estey pipe organ was dedicated, together with new pews, cushions, new carpet, a pulpit and stands. The pastor states in the diary: "This was a glorious day for the church here, the happiest day in its history for a number of years, a day of new things, a day of great joy."

Another great event in the history of the Giffords Church, which manifests the progressive spirit of the membership of those days, occured on October 11, 1908, when the large Sunday School annex was dedicated. For some time the need of larger quarters for the Sunday School had been felt very keenly, especially on the part of the large Young Men's Organized Class, taught by Mr. John Cole for a number of years. It was the pride of the Sunday School. At the same time there seemed to be need for a place where the young men could carry on some athletic activities, such as basketball, etc. A Boys' Brigade had been organized and needed more room for drills. So it was decided to build an addition to the north of the church, to be used for Sunday School purposes, with a basement of sufficient height for gymnasium purposes. After numerous difficulties with the gymnasium features, the building was completed and dedicated on the above mentioned date, with great festivities and great rejoicing, especially on the part of the young people. A Dr. Kuhns of Manhattan donated much gymnasium apparatus. Electric light was installed in the entire building. This gave Giffords a splendid church plant, which proved valuable in the community work it was carrying on, and again increased the prestige of our church in the community.

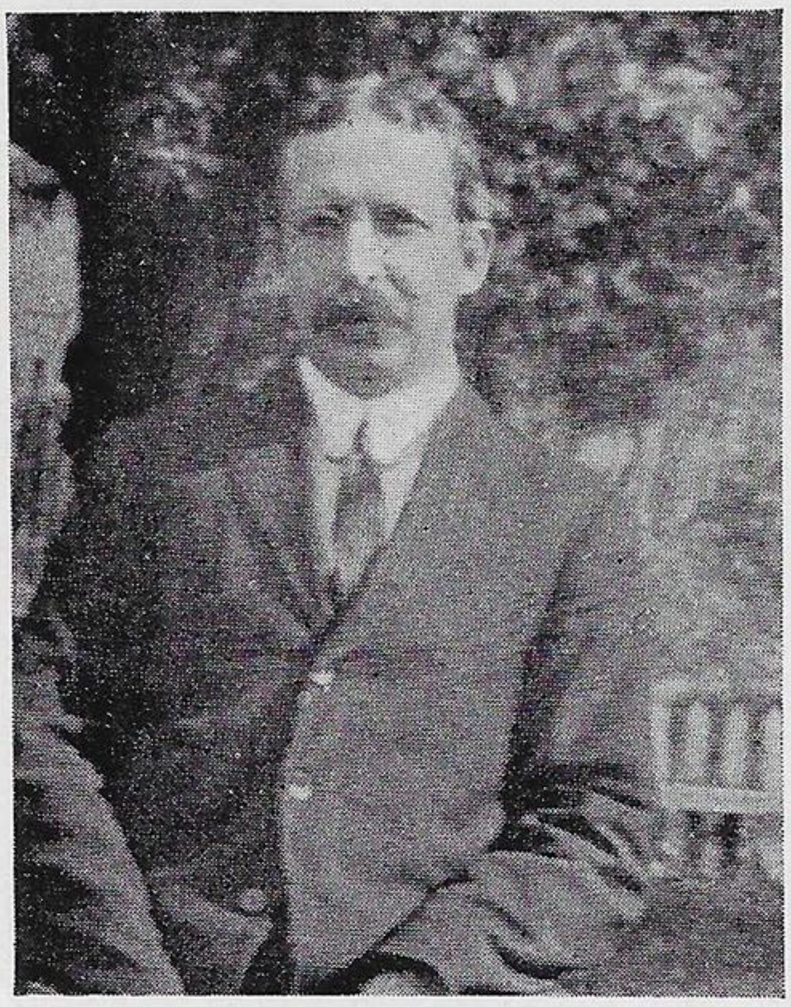
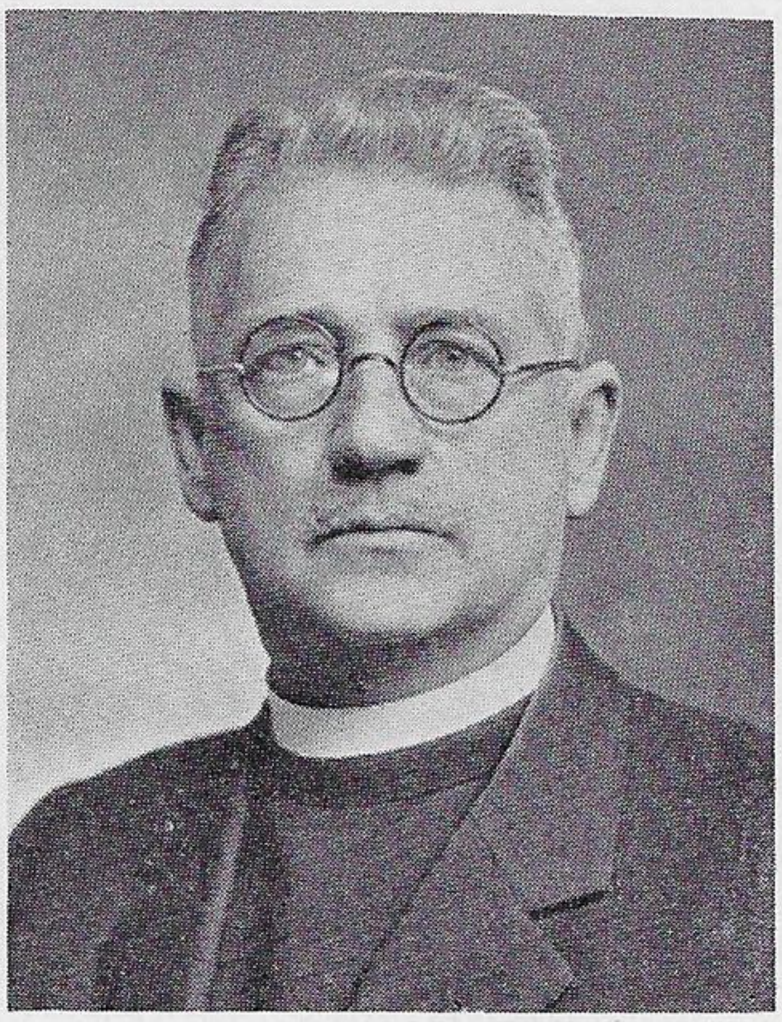
After laboring faithfully for five more years, the Rev. John S. Romig brought his long pastorate of 17 years to a close in November of 1913, going to the First Moravian Church, Philadelphia. The Rev. Paul M. Greider, then pastor of the Brooklyn Moravian Church, accepted the call to the pastorate and was installed on Sunday, December 14, 1913 by Bishop C. L. Moench. The work had been well established, no more building was necessary and the church plant was in splendid repair. The new pastor devoted himself faithfully to the work, nurturing the various organizations, earnestly preaching the Gospel of salvation in Christ Jesus, feeding the sheep and the lambs. In September of 1919 great sorrow came to him when his wife, a splendid helpmeet, was killed in an auto accident in the Pocono Mountains. Already suffering with a heart ailment, his health was rapidly undermined, so that he found it necessary to give up his work here in September of the following year. He retired to Ohio, where he passed to his eternal reward on November 9, 1920.



Rev. Paul M. Greider
Dec. 1913 - Sept. 1920

On October 15th, the Rev. Wm. H. Fluck arrived at Great Kills (the name of the community meanwhile having been changed) from Hope, Indiana, to assume the pastorate here, being installed on Sunday, October 17th. The membership of the congregation began to increase very materially. Soon a need was felt for more room in the front interior of the church auditorium. An extension was added which made it possible to move the organ back into an alcove, thus making more room for the choir on the platform, and adding to the seating capacity of the auditorium. The vestry room was also added. A number of beautiful memorial windows added greatly to the appearance of the auditorium. An especially fine one was placed in memory of Rev. Paul M. Greider and his wife. These improvements took place in 1923.

One of the outstanding undertakings was



Rev. William H. Fluck, M. A.
Oct. 1920 - April 1928

a two weeks' evangelistic campaign in the fall of 1925, with Dr. H. D. Sheldon as evangelist. The Rev. Fluck closed his ministry here in April, 1928, and is now pastor of the First Moravian Church of Utica, N. Y. He is the only living ex-pastor.

After an interim of four months, the present pastor arrived here in August, 1928, being installed by the Rev. E. S. Hagen of the Provincial Elders Conference on Sunday, September 2nd. During these seven years 125 persons have been added to the membership of the congregation, but we have also experienced heavy losses through death, removals and otherwise, so that our membership on January 1, 1936, numbers 214. The outlook for the year before us is very encouraging both from the financial standpoint, as well as a good increase in membership. May this Jubilee Year be the beginning of a new era for the Great Kills Moravian Church.

A COLLEGIATE CONGREGATION

The churches of New Dorp, Castleton Hills and Great Kills constitute a Collegiate Congregation, under the supervision of a General Church Council, a Central Board of Elders and Central Board of Trustees, comprised of representatives from each church. Each church also has its own local boards and church councils. Each church receives support from the congregational endowment fund.
